ABOUT AURORA

During 2017 AURORA of CNY, Inc. will celebrate its 100 Year Anniversary. AURORA is the only non-profit organization dedicated exclusively to serving individuals who are blind, visually impaired, deaf and hard of hearing in Central New York.

AURORA's mission is to promote independence and opportunity so that individuals with vision or hearing loss, or both, can achieve their fullest potential and participation in school, work, home and community.

AURORA OF CNY’S HISTORY

1917: Syracuse Association of Workers for the Blind, Inc., also known as “The Lighthouse” was established to provide services to blinded veterans of WWI.

1926: The Lighthouse begins to receive Community Chest (UNITED WAY) funds to expand social and employment services for anyone who has vision loss.

1965: The Lighthouse restructures and professionalized services by hiring Orientation and Mobility, Rehabilitation and Social work staff members.

1976: The Central New York Association of the Hearing Impaired (CNYAHI) was established as a sister agency to the Lighthouse.

1979: The Marjoire Clere Interpreter Referral Service is created to meet the growing demand for high-level, qualified American Sign Language Interpreters.

1991: AURORA of CNY is created through the merger of Syracuse Association of Workers for the Blind and the Central New York Association of the Hearing Impaired.

2017: AURORA celebrates 100 years of service and is poised to embark on exciting new ventures to significantly expand our service lines and integrate a total health and wellness approach to services for people of all ages with vision and hearing loss.
Since 1869, St. Joseph’s has stood as a community landmark representing a commitment to the delivery of high-quality compassionate care, while AURORA, once known as the Association of Workers for the Blind or “The Lighthouse”, has been a mainstay of benevolent service by helping people with sensory loss achieve the highest quality of life. For nearly a century, St. Joseph’s and AURORA have enjoyed a long and fruitful partnership serving Central New York residents of all ages, races and religions. Kathryn Ruscitto, president and chief executive officer of St. Joseph’s Health since 2011, and the leaders who preceded her, have been a critical force behind the continued success of this partnership.

Debra Chaiken, AURORA’s president explains the partnership: “Over the years, AURORA has benefitted from the excellent tradition of strong leadership at St. Joseph’s. Former CEO of St. Joseph’s, William J. Watt was an invaluable member of our board of directors and a good friend. Currently, Theodore Pasinski, who was CEO immediately prior to Ms. Ruscitto, is an active board member who is helping us create a positive future for AURORA. And now, thanks to Kathryn Ruscitto’s vision and leadership, important initiatives and joint collaborations between AURORA and St. Joseph’s are still bearing fruit in the community. Programs such as comprehensive falls prevention and system-wide sensitivity training for medical staff around vision and hearing loss continue to make a difference in people’s lives.”

In fact, throughout her tenure at St. Joseph’s, Ms. Ruscitto has led initiatives to improve the quality and safety of patient care, and has deepened physician engagement in operations and strategic development. Additionally, under Ms. Ruscitto’s leadership, St. Joseph’s invested in a multi-million dollar hospital renovation project on its main campus in Syracuse, and made investments in the expansion of several ambulatory care centers – all with the goal of improving access to care for patients and their families. Ms. Ruscitto prioritized community engagement as an integral part of maintaining community health, and led the effort that made St. Joseph’s a driving force in the revitalization of Syracuse’s North Side neighborhood. She also led the creation of an innovative, integrated health care center on Syracuse’s Near West Side in cooperation with key community partners. Most recently, in 2015, St. Joseph’s joined the Trinity Health system - the culmination of a five-year collaborative discernment process led by Ms. Ruscitto, which engaged sponsors, board members and organizational leaders.

According to Kathryn, “St. Joseph’s Health and AURORA serve the community with similar missions to improve the health and well-being of Central New York’s residents. AURORA extends the care and compassion of the St. Joseph’s mission into the community and both organizations have enjoyed a long history of ensuring that patients achieve optimum long-term health. I am honored to be a part of that history and congratulate AURORA on achieving 100 years of contributions to our community.”

We are grateful for the support from and partnership with St. Joseph’s Health as we look forward to many more years of service assisting community members with vision and hearing loss and helping them achieve the highest quality of life.
